Code Official: noun

- 1) One who makes us rethink our project upon completion and submission of drawings.
- 2) Professional employed in the establishment and enforcement of building codes

Does the approval process really need to be so full of angst? Come meet your code officials face-to-face for a educational conversation before your next project is submitted. What are common mistakes seen on drawings? What are some common misinterpretations? How will new codes affect an upcoming project?

Representatives from different Authorities Having Jurisdiction (AHJs) will be in attendance for an open discussion led by a moderator.
